

Proximex Corporatio
440 North Wolfe Roa
Sunnyvale, CA 9408

☎: 408-216-5190 (office
☎: 408-524-152

Proximex PR Contact: Jill Dopp, Market4Demand, Inc.
Phone: (303) 324-0044
Email: jill@market4demand.com

Dakota Security Systems PR Contact: Chad Brower
Phone: (605) 271-7000
Email: cbrower@dakotasecurity.com

Proximex and Dakota Security Systems Announce Reseller Partnership Agreement

Sunnyvale, CA (Business Wire) – June 3, 2008 – Proximex, developers of award-winning solutions for the physical security information management (PSIM) market, announced today that it has signed a reseller agreement with Dakota Security Systems, Inc, a South Dakota-based security systems integration company. Under the terms of this agreement, Dakota Security Systems will resell and install Proximex Surveillint in its large enterprise accounts in vertical markets including financial, retail and government entities.

“This agreement is significant because of the innovative possibilities that Proximex brings to our customer base,” said Eric Yunag, president and CEO of Dakota Security Systems. “The ability of Surveillint to bring together information from different subsystems -- whether that be security, building management or IT -- into one common platform with an automated workflow is a ‘game-changer’ in how people will manage their security information. This is one of the most exciting opportunities we’ve seen in our thirty years of integrating security systems.”

Proximex Surveillint™ is a premier physical security solution for policy-based incident discovery, connection and resolution. Powered by a sophisticated workflow engine, Surveillint takes advantage of existing security systems to mitigate risk across an enterprise environment by providing actionable intelligence, speeding security incident resolution and reducing security operations costs.

“Dakota Security Systems is an important partner as it excels in providing design, implementation and project management services to complement our enterprise security deployments,” said Jack Smith, CEO of Proximex. “In addition, Dakota’s comprehensive understanding of physical security, IT infrastructure and business continuity allow them to deliver solutions that improve security as well as add operational and business value.”

Operators prefer Surveillint for its intuitive and comprehensive interface, supervisors like its incident reporting and auditing, and management approves of its ability to provide a complete overview of the organization’s entire security environment. In just one solution, Proximex allows different security professionals, regardless of their level within the organizations, to communicate with one another as well as view the information required for their jobs.

About Proximex

Proximex, a leader in the physical security information management (PSIM) market, leverages its innovative IT software expertise to drive security transformation by creating synergy between logical and physical security departments within global enterprises and the United States military. Its flagship product, Proximex Surveillint™, won the 2008 New Product Showcase award in the Convergence category from the Security Industry Association. Surveillint powers users with an intelligent and flexible system to discover, connect and resolve related security incidents fast. The impressive user interface (UI) and advanced feature set makes Surveillint the preferred choice of security users at all levels within an organization, including operators, supervisors and executive management. Surveillint customers include public safety and security entities with an urgent need for security systems management and Fortune 1000 organizations in diverse industries such as: banking and financial services; gas, oil and chemical; telecommunications; pharmaceutical; and the military. Privately held, Proximex is headquartered in Sunnyvale, CA with offices in Texas, Tennessee and Florida. For more information about Proximex, visit www.proximex.com.

About Dakota Security Systems, Inc.

Headquartered in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Dakota Security Systems, Inc. is a systems integration company providing electronic and physical security solutions. The company focuses on design, implementation and support services in its regional offices and remote locations in strategic cities throughout the United States. Dakota Security is a privately held company with a thirty-year history of providing superior installation and service quality for a demanding customer base. For more information, please visit www.dakotasecurity.com.

###

Trademarks and registered trademarks are the properties of their respective owners.